Reaching marbles shimmer, blinding the plunderers and those once profane. Immortality regained as the philosophers' creed echoes through millennia and the warrior psyche eternally rests in Elysium. At the walls of Troy war cries resound as spears and swords clash against shields. Argonauts trek the red wine seas to expand a puissant hegemony. rison of Julia the Younger, the Tremiti Islands became the site of exile for 5 years.

Out of these Islands, San Domino would consist entirely of gay men. 45 Men had been shipped off from Catania, making a 300 mile journey by boat under lock and key. The men stepped off the boat cuffed¹, where they were released into the warm sun above the adriatic sea.

Orazio L, who had been training to join the clergy, wrote a letter to his home court begging to be let go to fight in the war.

"To become a soldier, and then return to the seminary to live in retirement, is the only way in which I could repair the scandal and dishonour to my family..."

Really pulls on the heart strings. Killing people is not only cool, but fun and ol Orazio was set to miss out on everything! Even the artillery shelling! We can only imagine how much pain he suffered going on morning swims, eating cornettos in the sun, and getting his dick sucked 7 times a day.

In the rest of the Eyetalian world, there was a strict house arrest set on femmenellas, who would be arrested for even leaving the house. Thank you based Mussolini for finally enacting gay sharia. Don't let those bottoms get uppity on you now Duce!

here was in Sparta a law,
which forbade being overweight or having an unmanly complexion.

The law was written as such, for the former indicated sloth, and the latter effeminacy. As such, it was enacted that the young men should stand naked in public before the Ephors every ten days.

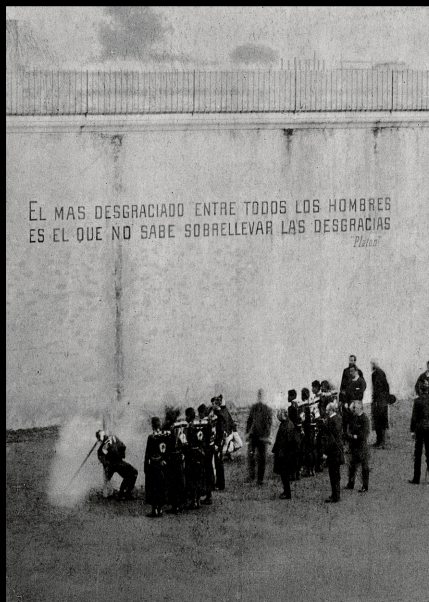

Upon inspection, they were commended if their bodies looked solid and strong, well honed with exercise. However, if any of their limbs were soft and flabby, pudgy, with fat accrued through sluggishness, they were beaten and censured. This is the origin of penis inspection day.

In order to further accomodate the quality progression of such matters, cooks in Sparta were skilled only in the preperation of meat. Any cook who had any further experience was driven out of the city, as part of a rite of purification against non-grillers.

For futher information regarding such matters one may consult Aelian's Miscellaneous History 14.7.
